Flashpoint Marketing provides search engine marketing services exclusively to the accounting profession. While there are a number of seo/search engine marketing companies in the market today none have the extensive experience and deep understanding the accounting profession. Our professionals have over 15 years experience in both traditional market and search engine marketing roles.

Why focus on training a firm on your profession? Save time, resources and energy by working with a firm that understands your business and the various services offered. Allow our professionals to creatively position your website to drive additional traffic and opportunities to your firm.
